

Five Buildings of Beijing By PHILIP KENNICOTT | Washington Post Staff Writer

VIDEO Philip Kennicott leads an exploration of Beijing's architecture at www.washingtonpost.com/style.

BY TRAVIS FOX — WASHINGTONPOST.COM

The new headquarters of China Central Television, by Rem Koolhaas and Ole Scheeren of OMA, a Dutch architecte firm, is currently under construction. Its dramatic overhang looms over Beijing's rapidly developing central business district. One critic says the massive tower will "tame" the buildings round it. He may be more prescient than he realizes.

